3. How is the beer tab handled with the self-serve beer wall? There are several ways we can handle the “beer minimum” beer tab.

- We can make several beer cards to be left in a basket at your table(s) to be shared by all guests age 21 and over. The cards can be set with an internal limit set to the beer minimum amount, if you desire a set budget. Once the pre-loaded amount has been spent, the party host can choose to have guests start their own tabs at that point or the host can opt to have the limit increased by adding more value to the cards once the minimum has been met.
- We can make several beer cards to be left in a basket at your table(s) to be shared by all guests age 21 and over that can be left as “open tabs” and any amount consumed over the “beer minimum” will be charged to the party host’s credit card.
- We can make individual beer cards with a set limit per card and the host can give cards to each guest for individual use. (For example, $20 per person per card). These cards are active for one day only and the cards must be collected back at the end of the event.
- Guests can pay their own individual beer tab by opening up a personal beer card with a credit card. Any shortage from the amount consumed and the “beer tab minimum” for the event will be charged to the party host.

- In every case, beer cards will need to be collected and returned at the end of the event. A $3 per card “lost card fee” will apply for any beer cards not returned by your guests.
4. What happens if fewer guests attend the event than expected? We reserve and hold the number of tables and make plans, which may include extra staff, based on the amount of expected guests you tell us. If fewer guests show up than expected, you are still obligated to pay the agreed upon “beer tab minimum” at the time of reservation.
 5. What happens if more guests attend the event than expected? We reserve and hold the number of tables and make plans, which may include extra staff, based on the amount of expected guests you tell us. If more guests show up, we will make our best attempt to accommodate them, however, there is no guarantee for extra seats beyond those reserved. If we do add extra tables to the party area, the “beer tab minimum” will be adjusted accordingly.
 6. What food options do you have? We have a full-time caterer at Ono who operates a food service business in our tasting room. Odd BBQ serves delicious meals/snacks to our customers daily and has an extensive catering menu for large and smaller groups for pre-orders. There is a small private room next to the large party rental area that parties can use for any purchased food from the caterer that is included for the first party that requests the room and reserves the space near the front entrance. Additional food tables will need to be included in the guest table count if you desire to use a table to set up for food only.
 7. Can we bring in wine? Wine/outside alcohol is not allowed on the Ono Brewing premises, per our ABC license. Please note that this includes any gift items. Alcoholic gift items are not allowed on our premises.
 8. What if I need to cancel our event? Please do call to inform us of a cancellation. The deposit is non-refundable, however, due to the fact that we had blocked that date/time from other potential customers.
 9. What if we are late for our event? If your group is going to be late, please call ahead to inform us. Your 2-hour reservation window begins at the previously agreed upon time, whether your group is there or not. If your group does not arrive within 15 minutes of agreed start time, and no call has been received, the tables will be released and the deposit will not be returned.
